

What is the Migrant Education Program?

The Migrant Education Program is federally funded and designed to enrich and respond to the educational and health needs of migrant children. The program provides supplemental services to the core program of services already being received by students through the district.

Who is eligible?

The children of migratory workers, ages 3-21, whose parents or other members of their nuclear family have worked in either fishing, agriculture, dairy, food processing (packing, forestry or livestock industries within the last 36 months are eligible. During the move to do this temporary work, the parents or a relative, must have taken the student away from his/her regular school to a different school district, whether or not the student attended school at the second location.

Why Do Migrant Students Need Special Services?

Migrant children need supplemental services because test scores show many students need assistance to meet grade level, district, and state standards. Sixth grade surveys show that migrant students plan to complete high school, but many need extra help in order to meet graduation requirements. The Migrant Education Program has been highly effective in helping students reach their goal of high school graduation, and college entrance.
